

Bathurst Island

When the Northern Territory Government explored the feasibility of upgrading the Nguiu Swimming Pool on Bathurst Island (North of Darwin), Statewide Pools was commissioned to prepare a Pool Assessment Report.

While the existing pool was only a few years old, certain deficiencies rendered those facilities unusable for most of that time.

Statewide Pools' report consisted of:

- An overview of systems
- Analysis of systems & problems including:
  - a) pool hydraulics
  - b) plant and equipment,
  - c) necessary repairs and safety concerns

Upon completion of the report, Statewide Pools were contracted to renovate the existing 25 metre pool and toddlers' pool. These renovations included a complete upgrade of the hydraulics and plant. For five months, TILG provided accommodation for our team in this remote location. All tools, plant and equipment were trucked to Darwin then ferried across to Bathurst Island.

The entire project cost $160,000 and as you can see by the photos, the real value lies in what this facility means to the health and enjoyment of the individuals and wider community that use it.
